Teach

To teach is to inspire, coach, encourage, share and inform. Exceptional teachers thrive on rich content marinating in their minds and spreading to their hearts; this releases passion in their instruction. Teachers share knowledge and wisdom that has shaped their understanding and encourage their pupils to join them on an intellectual journey. The academic expedition is not limited to facts, figures, charts, and graphs, but includes an impartation of character, leadership, grace, and truth. Students embrace knowledge and the life it gives. Learners welcome concepts, think critically, express themselves, and become givers to the exchange of insight. Education is gratifying, invigorating, and thought provoking. Thinking becomes preferred over less stimulating activities because students have an appetite for process and output. Students generously spend more time discovering and becoming strong in a multitude of concepts.

Jesus commands us in Matthew 22:37, "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind." What a beautiful experience to pursue God and His Kingdom not only with our minds, but also with our entire being; it is what Cambridge students experience each day.

Coram Deo,
LaTonia Lambert
Dean of Academics
